ORDER

To transform Andhra Pradesh into a globally recognized information technology (IT) hub, the Government aims to improve the quality of life for its citizens by fostering high-quality education and healthcare, to boosting productivity in industry and related sectors, and generating employment through the promotion of Electronics and IT. The government recently issued the policies for the IT, Information Technology Enabled Services (ITeS), Electronics, and Semiconductor fabrication, and Data Centers (see https://apit.ap.gov.in/#/ for details) which outline industry-specific incentives while defining responsibilities for stakeholders.

2. The achievement of the goals outlined in the policies relies on the timely fulfillment of commitments by both the government and industry stakeholders. This requires coordination between government functionaries and industry representatives to establish procedures, issue guidelines, and implement the policies. To address these challenges, there is a need for a standing committee dedicated to ensuring efficient collaboration between government functionaries and industry representatives.

3. In the evolving technological landscape, the Government, after consultation with stakeholders, concluded that there is a need to revamp the existing Consultative Committee for Information Technology and Electronics Industry (CCITEI) which was constituted, and incrementally modified in the references 1,2,3, and 4.

4. The re-constituted CCITEI would function as a platform for discussing policy frameworks, strengthen regulatory support, and enable industry advancement, duly ensuring that the IT and the Electronics sector's growth is in line with broader economic and technological objectives.
